

Dr. P. Tranos was born in Thessaloniki in November 1971. In 1996 he graduated from the medical school of the Democritus University of Thrace. As an undergraduate medical student he completed part of his studies at Kings College Hospital, London.

He was trained in Ophthalmology in London, at the Royal Free Teaching Hospital and in the Department of Intraocular Inflammation at Moorfields Eye Hospital.

In April 2002, he passed his exit exams and became a member of the Royal College of Ophthalmic Surgeons of Glasgow.

In 2003 he completed his first Clinical Fellowship in vitreoretinal surgery at Worthing and Southlands Hospitals. During the same period he was Research Fellow in the vitreoretinal research unit at Moorfields Eye Hospital. Subsequently he worked as clinical vitreoretinal fellow at Moorfields Eye hospital for over 1 year.

In 2006 he completed his PhD at the Medical School of the Aristotle University of Thessaloniki.

In 2008, he co-founded the Medical & Surgical retinal center "RETINA" in Thessaloniki.

In 2009 he completed a clinical Fellowship in Medical retina and uveitis at Moorfields Eye Hospital in London.

In 2011, after a nationwide vote, he was named "Best Young Greek Ophthalmologist", and he delivered the European Society of Ophthalmology lecture.

In 2012 he became a member of the distinguished retina club "Jules Gonin".

In 2013 he co-founded the Ophthalmic Day surgery Unit 'OPHTHALMICA' where he works till now as consultant in Vitreoretinal surgery & Uveitis.

In 2021 he was elected President of the Northern Greece Ophthalmological Society

He has performed more than 3000 Vitreoretinal procedures and has participated as a guest speaker in dozens of international conferences. He has published over 75 manuscripts in peer reviewed scientific journals.